OGDEN, Utah, Feb. 3.—Upon a report that a woman registering as "Miss Maida Rice, Salt Lake City," had stated to an Ogden hotel manager that she was Mrs. Jack Dempsay, divorced wife of the heavy-weight champion, and that she feared she was being followed by several men in an effort to secure lotters in her possession, special police protection was provided at the hotel last night.

The woman was reported to be very Ill. An officer assigned to the hotel, said that Mrs. Dempsey had expressed the belief that letters written by her husband to her regarding draft exemption were being sought.

conductor on the Vance avenue line. Pal has met White on several occasions, his last meeting with the crack little Albanian being in Memphis, when Moore outpointed White by several country blocks. Following his bout Tuesday night with White, Moore will journey over to Baltimore and meet Roy Moore in 12 rounds Friday night

GOING AFTER KALE.

Moore is going to make a grand tour which is calculated to net him many American dollars, and plans to collect more of the long green during the ensuing few months than ever before in the same amount of time. Moore expects to fight at least once a week, and will meet any bantam anywhere, provided the financial inducements are right and to his liking.

Moore's work in the ring during his past few starts shows that the flashy little Memphian is fighting like a champlon, and he expects no serious trouble

ing his campaign this spring and summer
Pal is counting on meeting Jahez
White, Roy Moore, Jack Sharkey, Earl Puryear, Kid Regan, Johnny Ritchie, Beuny Chayez, Eddie Coulon, Nate Jackson and Babe Asher during his grand American invasion. He is also desirous of meeting Pete Herman and Jimmy Wilde, but these two latter matches are going to be very difficult for Pal's managers to put over, owing to the fact that neither Herman nor Wilde particularly care for any of Moore's game, as both have been decisively beaten by the Memphis lad.
However, a strong effort is going to be made to match Moore with Wilde hefore the Britisher leaves for his home, and all kinds of financial inducements are going to be made to get Jimmy and Pal in the same ring.

$20,000 OFFERED WILDE.

Wilde has already been offered a purse of $20,000 to meet Moore in a 20-round engagement in Milwaukee-1,000 simoleons per round-but as yet Wilde has not whispered the magic word of yes. Wilde probably remembers two very warm sessions with Moore in London and hankers not for any more engagements with the crack

LONG HAS NEW BOY.

Eddie Long, who has brought several good boys to Memphis in the past, among whom was Earl Puryear, a classy bantam, has picked up a welter weight who is expected to prove a sensation. His name is Jack Coyne, a New York Irishman. He is a hero of the world war, having two citations for distinguished service under fire. Eddie sends the following clipping about his new fighter:

"Here's a real fighter:

"Jack Coyne is his name. He is an Irishman, a resident of New York, and a rather tough welterweight.

"When Uncle Sam horned into the European conflict, Jack was about two jumps ahead. He eflisted and after several months' training found himself a member of the sanitary train of the 305th infantry in France.

"It was during the action around, Fismes that Coyne showed his colors, Badly wounded comrades were in need to faid and it was Jack's duty to get it to them. He did, even though Heine was tossing over everything in the shop.

"The Belgian government handed him its war cross for that bit of work.

"When Uncle Sam's troops were batting along the banks of the Vesle river Coyne again found himself in the thick of it. He wasn't so lucky this time, for Fritz nipped him in the leg with suntry in preace of shell, Despite his wounds, try in processor of shell, Despite his wounds, try in preach him in the leg with suntry in preace of shell, Despite his wounds, try in the second game the soft drink youngsters had things pretty much their own way, though they seemed to time own way, though they seemed to tow war, though they seemed to trip.

limited to fractions. Rails were steady at the outset, but eased within the first haif hour when selling pressure extended to the general list, supplementing many initial declines. Selling became active and broader later, embracing the more substantial stocks. An unusual theory advanced in connection with these offerings was that stocks were being unloated by foreign owners who found it more advantageous to avail themselves of exchange rates at this center.

Lord is the hardest hitter the Southern league ever saw. Any other nominations? In a letter received a couple of days back, Dixie said he was glad of his chance to go to the Boston Braves and expected to make good.

A. H. B.—Manager McCloskey of the Chicks is 46 years of age, according to his own statement. He appears much older than that and the snow is already beginning to make its appearance around his temples, but he says he is only 48. And he should know, for he was yery likely in the room when he was born.

Before Jack Dempsey started in as a fighter he had a job loading pig-iron at $10.50 a week. Jack evidently slipped a slug up his sleeve and lets it fly every time he meets an opponent.

Jack Johnson has evidently changed his mind about returning to the United States and accepting his term in the hoosegow. The big smoke has been silent since he perused the statement of the Chicago district attorney, who said the United States would be ready for Jack any time the big shine elected to shove back over into this country.

A WORD ABOUT HEISMAN.

Georgia Tech is going to regret it for John Heisman is being accepted to get away. Heisman is being accepted to get away, heisman is being accepted to get away, heisman is being accepted for the Penn football team and has been of fered a very flattering financial inducement to pull up stakes and accepted the job. Heisman has not signed at this writing but very obviously is giving Georgia Tech an opportunity to raise the ante, in which case he would remain as coach of the Golden Tornadoes.

We remember distinctly one suftry afternoon in Sulphur Dell at Nashville when Lord was at bal, two men were on, none gone and the late Johny Bodge was playing third base. Johnny expected Bris to bunt and came in on the grass. Bris yelled at him:
"Don't get hurt, John,"

Just what sort of a charmponship is involved in the Benny Leonard-Freddo Welsh proposed bout in Cuba has not yet been determined. Reports state that the pair will meet but certainly not for the lightweight champonship of the world.
